I: Course Description:
This course is an introduction to program design, analysis and programming fundamentals using the Java language. Topics include the software development process, problem solving techniques, simple language basics, data representation and storage, program control structures, classes and their methods.

II: Learning Outcomes
The following content is extracted directly from the CCAC master course syllabus for CIT 111:

1. Upon successful completion of the course, the student will:
2. Use a Java integrated development environment (IDE) to design and implement applications on a computer.
3. Apply basic problem-solving techniques to novel situations that are relatively similar to models introduced in the course.
4. Use various data types by implementing them in the correct operations.
5. Create simple graphical user interfaces (GUI) using Swing JOptionPane components.
6. Use control structures in a Java application.
7. Utilize class methods found in the Java application programming interface (API).

III: The nitty gritty

textbook & materials
Students are encouraged to buy a used copy of Introduction to Programming Java: Comprehensive Edition 9th Edition by Y. Daniel Liang. Published by Pearson.
ISBN-10: 0-13-293652-6

NOTE: Your instructor has purchased over 20 of these from various sources online and has NEVER paid more than $40 for a single copy. Purchasing from the CCAC bookstore will result in a charge of over $180! Yikes! (And shame on the Pearson corporation which is an enemy of students everywhere.)

letter

Grades
Drawing on completed work and contributions to our class learning environment, propose a fair letter grade and a justification at midterm and final times using a 3x5 card.
https://technologyrediscovery.net/coursesGen/trgrading.html

Participate in final project sharing:
Sharing your own and reviewing a final project from a peer is required to sufficiently justify a grade proposal of A or B

due date
Weekly work cycles start on Monday, and end on Sunday at morning light.
Final work submission and grade proposals will be accepted until Wednesday, 16-DEC-2020 @ morning light but no later.

attendence & tardiness
As an online course, there are no scheduled session times, but rather weekly assignments please complete 75-85% of weekly work.

tests:
No high-stakes tests! Low-stakes, mini assessments and projects will constitute the bulk of your submitted work.

technology
All necessary computers are supplied by CCAC in our lab classroom

Academic Honesty
Provide written credit to all relevant authors of all code, writing, and project work for this course, including yourself and folks who help you (but who may not be published authors). Include direct URLs of websites consulted.

Honor the copyrights associated with all content used in this course.

Consequences: Students suspected of academic dishonesty will be asked to produce documentation to support any attributions (or, non-attributions).
